

Pass in Review

A review consist of the following steps in sequence

- Formation of troops
- Presentation of command and honors
- Inspection
- Honors to the nation
- Remarks
- March in review
- Conclusion

Formation of troops

When instructed the unit commanders (in sequence from right to left) march their units to the ready line.

ready line

final line A B C D

Formation of troops

When all units are on the ready line, the adjutant reports to the Commander of troops "Sir, the command is formed."

final line A B C D

Adjutant →

Commander of troops →

Formation of troops

The adjutant takes a position with the staff officers. The Commander of troops directs the units to Parade, REST and then directs them to ATTENTION before the reviewing officer's arrival.

A B C D

Commander of troops →

← Staff Officers

Presentation and Honors

When the reviewing officer is at his post, the commander of troops directs the units commanders to give their unit Present Arms.

Presentation and Honors

At this point honors are given to the reviewing officer

Presentation and Honors

Upon completion of the presentation and/or honors, the commander of troops commands the unit commanders to give their units Order Arms and Parade Rest.

Inspection

The reviewing officer moves forward and halts in front of the commander of troops. The commander of troops salutes and reports “Sir, The command is prepared for inspection.”

Inspection

The commander of troops guides the reviewing party to the right flank unit and an inspection is completed

Honors to the Nation

When the reviewing party members have returned to their post, the commander of troops directs the units to ATTENTION and PRESENT ARMS.

Honors to the Nation

The reviewing party and all military spectators salute while the National Anthem is being played.

A	B	C	D
---	---	---	---

Commander of troops →

← Reviewing Officer

Honors to the Nation

Upon completion of the National Anthem, the commander of troops directs the unit commanders to give their units ORDER ARMS and PARADE REST.

A	B	C	D
---	---	---	---

Commander of troops →

← Reviewing Officer

Remarks

After the commander of troops has assumed parade rest, the reviewing officer, the host or host commander, or the distinguished guest may address the command.

A	B	C	D
---	---	---	---

Commander of troops →

← Reviewing Officer

March in Review

Upon completion of the remarks, the commander of troops directs the units to BRING YOUR UNITS TO ATTENTION.

Commander of troops →

← Reviewing Officer

March in Review

The host or host commander directs PASS IN REVIEW. The commander of troops then directs PASS IN REVIEW

Commander of troops →

← Reviewing Officer

March in Review

The commander on the right commands Right turn, MARCH. Each unit commander follows the unit to their right.

Commander of troops →

← Reviewing Officer

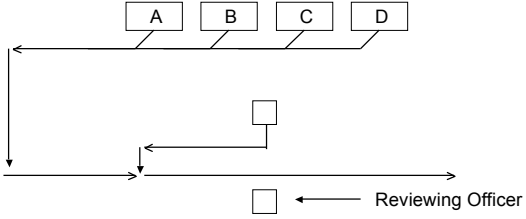

March in Review

The commander of troops and his staff moves forward and executes turning movements to get in front of the units that are passing in review.

March in Review

As each unit passes the reviewing officer, the commander give the command EYES, RIGHT. All members of the unit look to the right, except members of the right file, who continue to look straight ahead.

March in Review

When the unit is 6 steps beyond the reviewing officer, the commander give the command READY FRONT. All members of the unit turn their head and eyes to the front.

Conclusion

When the troop element has passed the reviewing stand the official version of "The Army Goes Rolling Along," is played. At it's completion, the commander of troops and the reviewing officer face each other and exchange salutes, this officially terminating the ceremony.