

Presidential Power

MA CARMON
©2004

The Constitutional Powers of the Presidency

Delegated Powers:

constitutional powers that are given to the presidency by Article II of the Constitution.

Inherent Powers

powers claimed by a president that are not expressed in the Constitution but are inferred from it.