

Profiles in Leadership

Frederick Douglass

Frederick Douglass

Born: 1817 Died: 1895

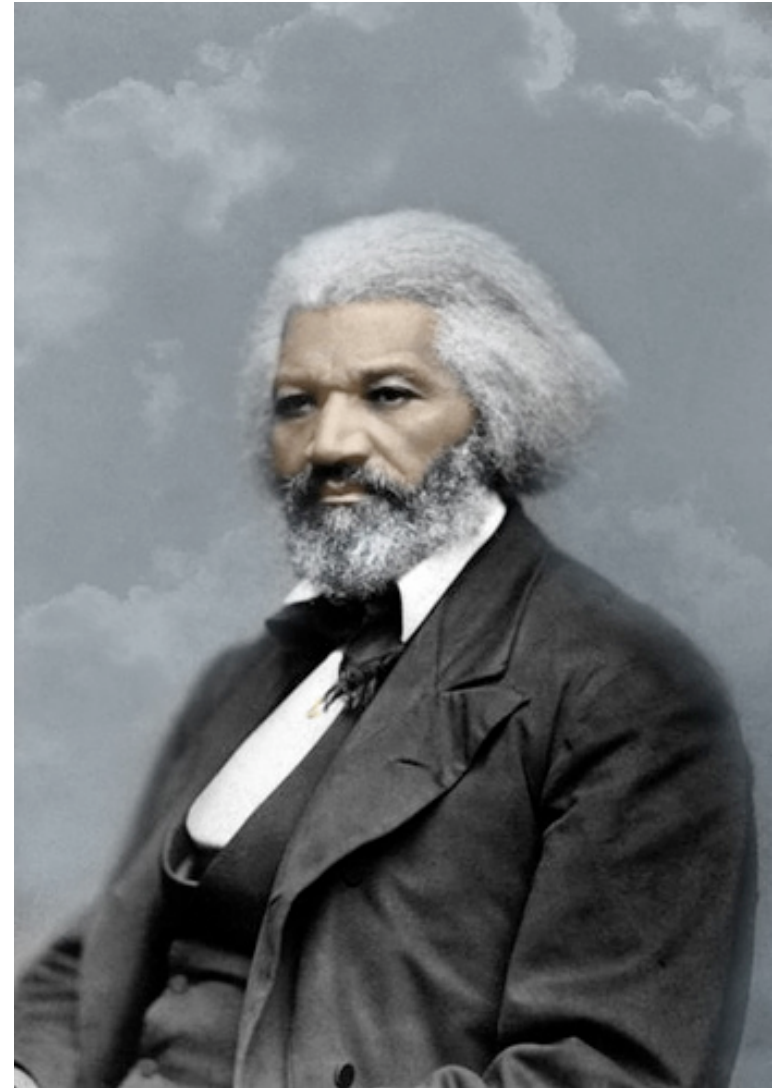

Frederick Douglass

Frederick Douglass, the son of a white man and a black slave, was born in Maryland.

His birth name was Frederick Washington Bailey.

At age nine, Frederick was sent to Baltimore to care for the son on Mr. and Mrs. Auld.

Frederick was taught to read by Mrs. Auld.

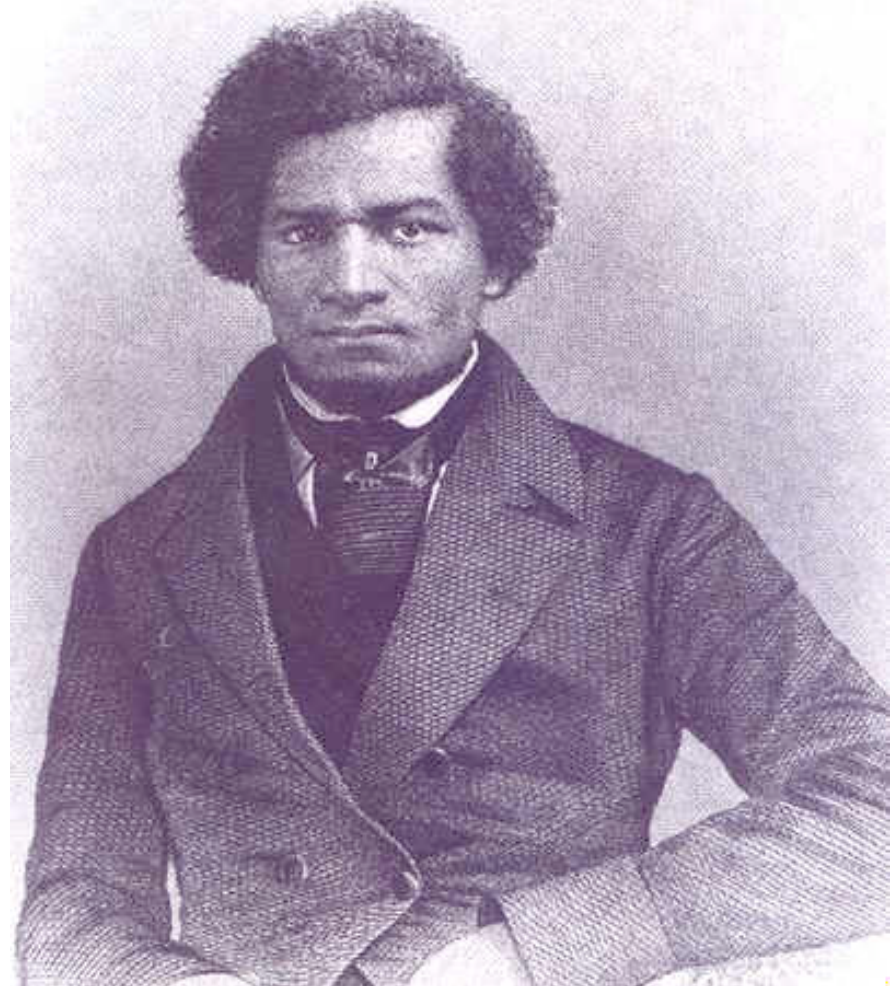

Frederick Douglass

In 1838 he escaped to New York City.

He became involved with the American Anti-Slavery Society. He was a gifted writer and speaker.

In 1845 he published his autobiography, “The Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass”.

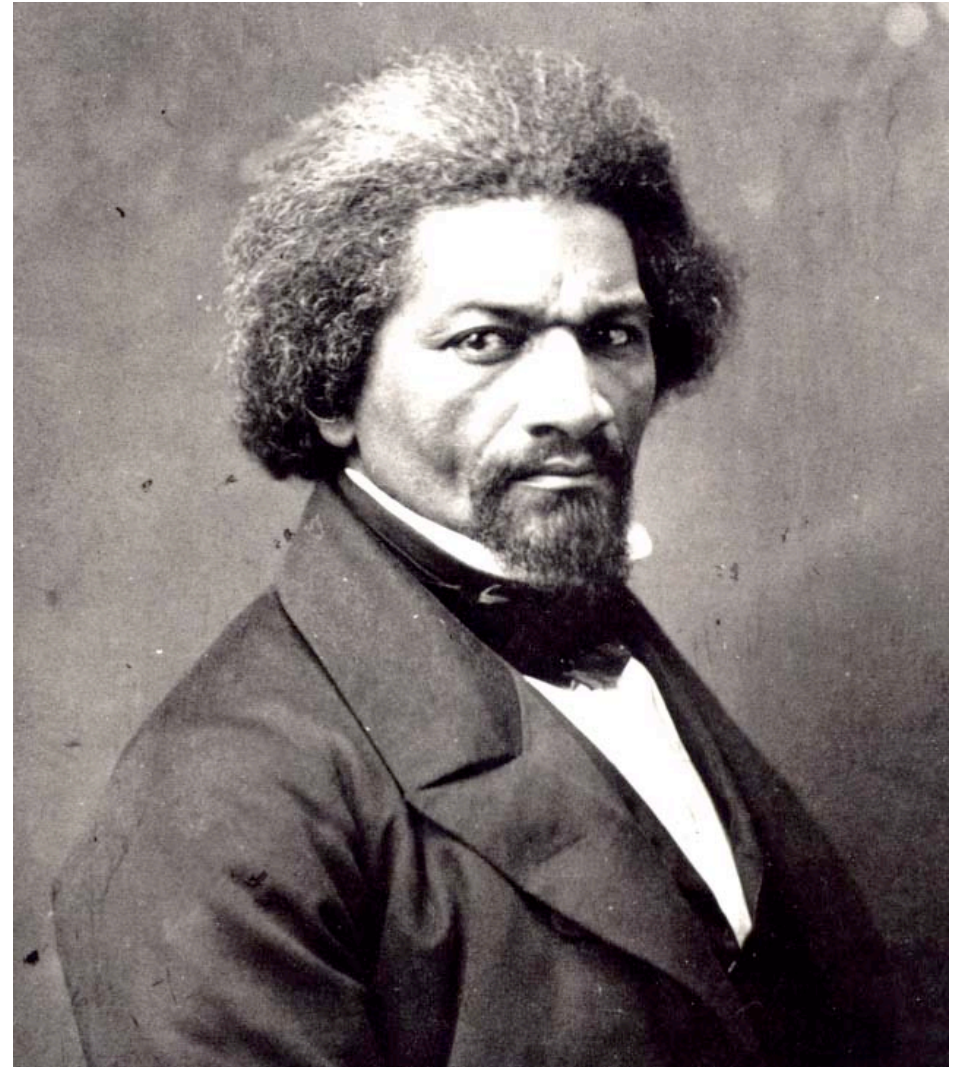

Frederick Douglass

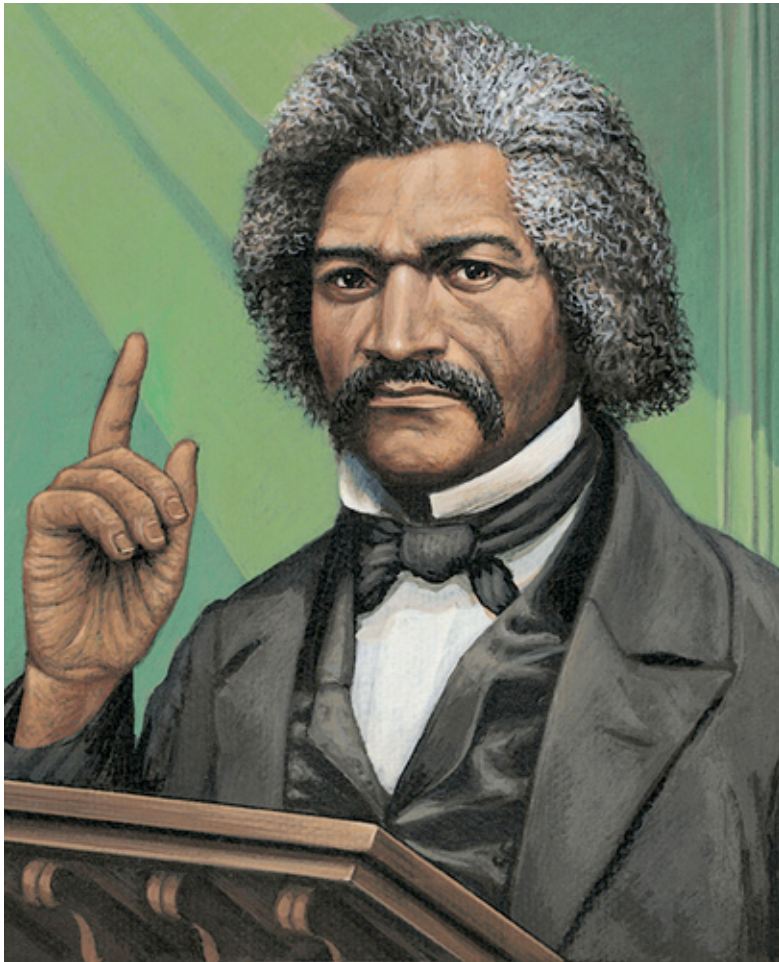

He began to publish an abolitionist newspaper “The North Star”.

He became a great orator, speaking out against slavery.

Douglass helped convince President Lincoln to make emancipation of the slaves one of the goals of the Civil War.

Frederick Douglass

THIS EVENING.
 THE BLACK MAN'S FUTURE.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS,
 THE ELOQUENT CHAMPION OF FREEDOM,
 will deliver a lecture upon
 "The Black Man's Future in the Southern States,"

AT THE TEMPLE,
 On SATURDAY EVENING, Mch. 15.

MR. DOUGLASS is one of the race concerning which it is now so often asked, "What is to become of the slaves?" As MR. DOUGLASS has been a slave, and knows the characteristics of his race, no one can answer better than he the question as to the future destiny of the negroes now in slavery.

In order that all may have an opportunity to hear this celebrated lecturer, the tickets of admission will be but 10 Cents.

Doors open at $\frac{1}{4}$ of 7. Lecture to commence at half past 7.

Frederick Douglass

“Abolitionist”

February 14, 1817
to
February 20, 1895